

BARIS DAI'S NEW SINGLE "HERALDING WARMER DAYS" IS OUT!

EINDHOVEN, THE NETHERLANDS - Independent musician Baris Dai is set to release a new single titled "Heralding Warmer Days" on May 12th, 2023. The single is part of Dai's "Ambient Conditions" series, and serves as a connecting piece between his first two EPs "Ambient Conditions, Pt. 1" and "Ambient Conditions, Pt. 2". It showcases Dai's talent as a versatile guitarist and multi-instrumentalist, with a focus on instrumental storytelling and progressive music.

Depicting the winter slowly coming to an end and spring beginning to bloom, "Heralding Warmer Days" offers a perfect balance of technical prowess and emotional depth. The track starts with a burst of energy and uplift, perfectly encapsulating the excitement of the changing seasons, before transitioning into a slower, more introspective section that captures the feeling of springtime lethargy.

Dai, who hails from Eindhoven, has been honing his craft for years, drawing inspiration from a wide range of musical styles and influences. His previous releases have garnered noteworthy accolades and a growing following among fans of progressive metal and rock.

"Heralding Warmer Days" was recorded in Eindhoven, mixed/produced by Baris Dai, and mastered by Bora Ince (Razor Inc., Furtherial). The release will be available on all major streaming platforms from May 12th, 2023. For more information on Baris Dai and his music, visit his website or follow him on social media.
